Help is just a call away

TWO Solihull women who specialise in taking the hassle out of organising for others have successfully completed their first year in business.

Your Wish Is My Command was set up by Stella Brookes and Nicky Lucas and the enterprising duo will take on any task big or small assigned to them.

Their work can range from looking after a pet to planning an entire wedding.

With many new businesses failing in their first year, Your Wish Is My Command is going from strength to strength.

The company, based in Shirley, recently organised and provided on-the-day co-ordination for a wedding for an American bride living in San Francisco who got married in Shropshire.

Requests for assistance with weddings are on the increase, something which has seen Stella and Nicky attend a number of wedding fairs.

But the duo are also at home assisting clients with everything from errand running to house move co-ordination.

De-cluttering is becoming popular, with Nicky and Stella helping to clear out items no longer required, leaving clients with a tidy, organised and pleasant environment to live or work in.

Such operations on occasion have also led to the unearthing of long forgotten valuable items.

With Christmas fast approaching Your Wish Is My Command is also offering to help people organise their Christmas celebrations - everything from gift or grocery shopping to arranging parties.

"We both had quite busy professional lives and were often up till midnight doing things for ourselves. We thought it would be nice if there was some sort of support there for people and it all went from there," said Nicky.
